It is a power is conferred on the Legislature by necessity with Leavenworth to build at this section, but simply a prohibition once this road or lose the Western trade, against depriving woman from any "patu- and her citizens have shown a commendral" rights. Hence, as the Constitution able liberality in the matter. already makes the needed distinctions, the any other action except to use the phrase 'qualified electors" in those portions of the school laws which refer to suffrage. The Constitution must be construed as a whole, and so construing it, this section does not confer on woman the right to hold office and to vote. It is a highsounding generality, an adroit dodge of

The "white man's party," with all their real for equal rights, have ignored the civil rights of women just as completely as they have those of the negro. While they are fawning at the feet of the foreigner and prating of their "generous liberality," the women of Kansas will not forget their hypocrisy and their betrayal of the principles of equal rights.
